

Model Composition 1 – The Surprise Visit

It was a Saturday morning, and I was home alone. My parents had business to attend to so I was given the job of looking after the house. Normally, I would be given the chance to go out with my friends on a Saturday. I was itching to leave the house.

I walked aimlessly around the house, looking for something to do. I had never been a fan of watching television, and neither would I spend too much time taking care of a pet. I soon settled down on my bed with a book and began reading. I had already read the book before so I skipped chapters as I read. I started to feel miserable. Staying home alone was indeed a tribulation for me!

Suddenly, there came a knock on the front door. I started, wondering who it could be. My parents always told me to be careful of strangers, and not to let them into the house. I cautiously approached the door, my head filled with images of tall men with masked faces. As I peered through the peephole, I was shocked to see the faces of three of my best friends grinning through the hole.

I was completely bewildered, but very happy as I opened the door to greet them. When I asked what they were doing here, they said that my parents had called them over to keep me company since I was stuck at home, and they were more than happy to comply. I silently thanked my parents and led my friends into the house. Since they had brought along some card games with them, very soon we settled down around the coffee table in the living room. The day was looking brighter every minute.
