

Model Composition 2 – My Favourite Website

There are many different kinds of Internet sites that people can visit. Some are just full of information, and others are interactive, allowing you to play games or create your own characters. My personal favourite website is Neopets, an interactive website that is a little world in itself.

The whole of Neopets is just like a game. When you play it, you are part of a world, Neopia, where people keep animals called Neopets. Neopets are virtual pets that you have to feed, care for and even train. Since I am not allowed to keep any pet at home, I find this website interesting as I can keep any kind of pet I like here. There are many different species of Neopets that you can choose from. Some live in the water, some run on land, and some can fly. In order to feed these Neopets, you have to earn money, or Neopoints, so that you can buy them food. You can do this by playing different games, investing in the stock market, setting up your own shop or making your Neopet compete with others in various tournaments.

Neopia is made up of about eighteen different lands so far, each with its own history. There are mystical lands as well as scary ones and even a space station! The world of Neopia is getting bigger all the time as the creators continue to add to it.

Neopets also allows me to make friends with many other Neopets owners all over the world. With these different people as well as the ever-changing world of Neopia, Neopets is never boring. Coming from a family that keeps no pets, I feel fortunate enough to have Neopets to keep me company and entertain me every day.
