Last Monday, my mother's Italian friend and her two (1) _____ visited us. I spent a long time talking to them and finding out about their life in Italy. I found out that there are hardly any (2) _____ in their small town, so they often walk to school. All the (3) _____ are in a small two-storey building. They study the whole morning and return home in the afternoon. They do not have many (4) _____ in the afternoon. They usually do their homework and play football. I was surprised when they told me that they are also good at using different (5) _____ to cut and prepare food. Every weekend, they help their mother to cook.
